To Whom It May Concern:

I first met Mr. Mark Olvera, Owner of the Olvera Company, during the 2007–2008 University of West Florida (UWF) Childcare Facility project, where he served as Project Manager for Morrette Construction Company. We subsequently worked together again on the 2009–2010 UWF College of Business project, where Mr. Olvera continued in his role as Project Manager.

Throughout both projects, Mr. Olvera consistently demonstrated thoughtful, conscientious leadership. He played a key role in guiding the projects through the inherent complexities associated with coordinating multi-discipline and multi-trade teams, ensuring effective collaboration and successful outcomes.

More recently, I had the opportunity to collaborate with Mr. Olvera on the conceptual planning of a warehouse facility to support the Disaster Relief Ministry of Hillcrest Baptist Church. In this effort, he once again exhibited strong leadership, sound judgment, and creative problem-solving abilities.

In my professional opinion, the Olvera Company, under Mr. Olvera's leadership, would be a valuable resource for UWF Facilities, particularly in the execution of small- to medium-sized construction and maintenance projects.

Sincerely,
